Secretary Chad F. Wolf
U.S. Department of Homeland Security
Office for Targeted Violence and Terrorism Prevention
2707 Martin Luther King Ave. SE
Washington, D.C. 20528-0445

Dear Secretary Wolf,

I write this letter in support of the Simon Wiesenthal Center's Museum of Tolerance (MOT) program to expand its unique and transformative anti-recidivism initiative One To One Bias Remediation Program. The One to One program is a solutions-oriented program designed for justice involved individuals charged with a bias/hate related incident. One to One utilizes research-based frameworks to develop customized experiences that reduce hate crimes and improve our communities.

The Los Angeles City Attorney's Office handles all misdemeanor offenses occurring in the City of Los Angeles through an array of criminal justice and restorative justice approaches. Through our Community Justice Initiative, we partner with organizations like MOT to effectively address the underlying drivers of crime with a view toward redirecting offenders away from escalating criminal involvement. My office has an extensive history of successful collaborations with MOT as a key partner in combating hate in our community, working in conjunction with the Los Angeles Police Department, Los Angeles Superior Court, and Los Angeles County Probation. The City of Los Angeles is fortunate to have such a dedicated and powerful resource, particularly during this pandemic time as hate crimes are on the rise, including harmful messaging and acts of violence.

Through new grant resources, my office looks forward to building off of our existing efforts and partnerships with MOT to remediate bias, reduce recidivism, and strengthen individual resilience against hate and extremism through the One of One program. Should you have questions regarding the role of our office, please do not hesitate to contact Camilo Cruz, Director of the Community Justice Initiative at (b)(6) or at

Dear Secretary Wolf:

I am writing in support of a project submitted by the Simon Wiesenthal Center-Museum of Tolerance (MOT) to the 2020 Targeted Violence and Terrorism Prevention Grant Program. They are seeking to enhance and expand their One -to-One Bias Remediation Program which I can say firsthand has been a tremendous asset to the Los Angeles Superior Court and its justice partners as an alternative sentencing option.

As founder of the Judge David S. Wesley Los Angeles Superior Court Teen Court Program, I have collaborated with the Museum of Tolerance for over 12 years in the creation and delivery of the SHADES (Stop Hate and Delinquency by Empowering Students) specialized Teen Court. I know of no other program in the United States or anywhere else that leverages powerful exhibits, speakers, and compassionate facilitators in this way to educate student jurors, giving them the tools to adjudicate and provide a disposition for hate crimes and hate incidents. The SHADES program uses the MOT's Bias Remediation program as a community service/education option for every minor defendant.

I wish you could see what I and my fellow volunteer judicial mentors see when we meet with the defendants after their experience in the SHADES program. They are more humbled, more open, more compassionate and accepting, willing to take responsibility for their actions. Many of our former defendants who have completed their alternative sentencing return to the program as jurors to help us with other minors in trouble. The result goes way beyond recidivism reduction. It is a life changing experience. Among our former defendants are minors that have gone on to law school, medical and nursing school, and last year a former minor defendant who went on to UCLA also interned in the White House. I am proud of our work with Museum of Tolerance and I urge you to seriously consider their request.

I would be pleased to provide any further information you may have about the Teen Court or SHADES programs and how they work with the museum's One-to -One Bias Remediation Program.

Sincerely,

(b)(6)

Judge David S. Wesley (Ret)

OTVTP Implementation & Measurement Plan

You should modify the Implementation & Measurement Plan (IMP) template to the number of outcomes your specific project requires. For each outcome in the IMP, create an Implementation Plan table and a Measurement Plan table. Please use the definitions provided in the IMP guidance document when crafting your plan. Draft, in the box below, the overarching goal statement for the project. Following completion of the IMP, each grantee is expected to complete the Risk Assessment & Mitigation Plan in Appendix A.

In the Implementation Plan table:

- Type each activity in a separate row; add as many rows as needed.
- Arrange activity rows chronologically by the start date of the activity.
- This IMP should span both years of performance under this grant program.

In the Measurement Plan table:

- Type each outcome indicator in a separate row.
- Include indicators that will help measure the results of the project; it is not necessary to have more than one indicator if that indicator sufficiently measures results.
- Identify and/or design data collection methods to be used to obtain the data that will be reported on quarterly.
- Ensure attention to collection of data that can be broken down by sex and age of project participants or beneficiaries.

NOTE: Data collection methods should be specific and timebound. Any expenses incurred from the collection of data must come from the grant already awarded. No additional funds will be made available by DHS for this purpose.

We will serve up to 100 people on this grant. We anticipate that half will be juveniles, referred through our longtime partners at the LA County Department of Probation Juvenile division, and diversion programs in the City such as LA Teen Court SHADES(Stopping Hate and Delinquency by Empowering Students). The other half will be adults referred through the above partners, with crimes varying in severity, from misdemeanors to perpetrators of violent extremism and terrorism. Demographic information (eg. gender, age, ethnic background etc.) will be collected.

One-to-One: Bias Remediation Program

Simon Wiesenthal Center - Museum of Tolerance, Los Angeles, CA

Replication Track: Recidivism Reduction and Reintegration

Amount Requested: $225,692

Project Abstract:

The evolving complex nature of terrorist threat in the US includes increasing dominance by hate groups and domestic white supremacist movements. Credible, research-based, community-based solutions are needed to halt radicalization of early and middle stage convicted individuals and help former perpetrators re-integrate back into society. The Simon Wiesenthal Center (SWC)-Museum of Tolerance (MOT) has a long history of offering custom interventions that address individuals at all stages of involvement in hateful offenses, with dignity and results. Since 1993, the Museum of Tolerance has been increasing societal awareness of the dangers of extremist thinking and terrorism, and promoting resilience and anti-bias education. It is one of the only museums in the world that features exhibits that directly address the perils of extremism, hate and terrorism, and what to do about it. Using its powerful experiential resources, the One-To-One: Bias Remediation Program was created to provide a future-facing, solutions-oriented program for individuals who committed a hate/extremist crime. It includes a private facilitated museum experience, meeting with “credible messenger”, and goal setting and facilitation/coaching with experienced professionals. We are applying to the DHS to enhance and scale this specialized program to augment services and customized treatment options in Los Angeles, with the ultimate impact of reducing recidivism and preventing targeted violence.

Simon Wiesenthal Center- Museum of Tolerance
One-To-One: Bias Remediation Program

1. Needs Assessment:

In an ideal world, sentencing would always fit the crime. In the case of ideological hate motivated crime, it should remediate the bias too. Anti-bias work- from societal awareness to rehabilitating ‘late stage’ perpetrators- is a specialized field with many organizations in the US playing important roles. But when it comes to anti-recidivism work, very few offer substantive services. As the 2019 Rand report summarizes: “We’re now about to see fairly significant problems with people convicted of terrorism-related offenses coming out of jail and there are zero programs for them.” (:195)...¹.

The Simon Wiesenthal Center(SWC)-Museum of Tolerance (MOT) has a long history of offering custom interventions and programs that address individuals at all stages of involvement in hateful offenses- with dignity, directness, and results. Regarding late stage formerly incarcerated individuals, the SWC was involved with the first "former" to leave the movement and go public in 1996. Under SWC/MOT auspices, TJ Leyden spoke to tens of thousands of law enforcement, educators, students and civic groups. Also, Tim Zaal transitioned out of hate almost 20 years ago. Working as a speaker and counselor to others for the SWC/MOT, he went on to be the focus of an Academy-Award nominated documentary sponsored by the Fetzer Institute about his path of reconciliation with a former victim who was also working at the MOT. Recently the SWC has worked with former White supremacist TM Garrett and we have been working with Jeff Schoep, who was leader of the largest neo-Nazi movement in the US for over 20 years. We arranged for him to testify in a California State Assembly hearing chaired by Assemblymember Bloom on white nationalism and the “alt-right.”

In 1993, the SWC opened its Museum of Tolerance (MOT) in LA to increase societal awareness of the dangers of extremist thinking and terrorism and promote resilience and anti-bias education for all members of our community. It is one of the only museums in the world that features exhibits that directly address the perils of extremism, hate and terrorism, and what to do about it. Later the MOT began to use its powerful experiential resources to offer specialized programs for law enforcement, educators, and youth. The One-To-One Bias Remediation Program was created to provide a future-facing, solutions-oriented, empowerment program for individuals involved in the justice-system because they committed a bias/hate related incident, misdemeanor, or high level crime. Law enforcement, judicial officers, district attorneys, and probation departments have been quietly making referrals to this small scale program for almost twenty years. We are applying to the DHS to enhance and scale this specialized program to augment services and customized treatment options in Los Angeles. As a replicable model, it can scale via other agencies eventually.

The psycho-social profile of every client is different and therefore the curriculum is individualized. Working in tandem with justice partners, case by case, the MOT assigns a facilitator who leads a dialogue based experience which includes: Pre-Assessment, customized experiential tour and exercises at the Museum designed to enhance critical thinking, self-awareness, and responsibility to preserve human dignity, private meeting with credible messenger (a “former”), debriefs, journaling, coaching sessions with facilitator using neuroscience based goal setting tools, and completion project of choice.

The program also connects Holocaust Survivors with participants. The rehabilitation impact (along with other factors) is undeniable as shown by the letters to MOT Holocaust Survivor Bill Harvey after he spoke to a group of men in maximum security at CA State Prison at Lancaster. Inmate Darryl wrote: Before hearing him speak, I hadn't had a thought about forgiving anyone, not even myself, but... Since then I have changed drastically... Alex wrote: “I feel such honor to have shared this space in time... I shook the hand of history, of survival, of love, of inspiration and came away with a spark of purpose.”

The Judge David S. Wesley LASC Teen Court Program has based its SHADES youth anti-bias courtroom at the MOT for over 12 years because of its unique transformative resources. The beneficiaries of this expanded MOT bias remediation program may be from various demographic backgrounds (which will be tracked). They are referred by justice partners at various stages of the criminal justice continuum. We will be able to serve up to 100 people on this grant. We anticipate that half will be juveniles, referred through our longtime partners at the LA County Department of Probation, and diversion programs. The other half will be adults referred through a variety of justice partners.

2. Program Design

Problem Statement:

The evolving complex nature of terrorist threat in the US includes increasing dominance by hate groups and domestic white supremacist movements. Violence continues to rise amidst a fractured populace, global economic uncertainty, and a pervasive digital media dominated culture that amplifies extremist platforms. Credible, research-based, community-based solutions are needed to halt radicalization of early and middle stage convicted individuals and help former perpetrators re-integrate back into society.

Goal:

To reduce recidivism of individuals convicted of hate crime or extremist targeted violence by partnering with justice agencies in Los Angeles to augment educational services and treatment options with the Simon Wiesenthal Center - Museum of Tolerance's One-to-One individualized remediation experience.

Objectives:

- Enhance and scale this unique education service in LA to augment treatment options in the justice system through convenings, promotion, and expanded programming.
- Improve understanding of LA justice officials regarding legal characteristics of hate/extremist crime as opposed to other crimes and appropriate referrals through training programs, press conferences, and informational materials and video.

- Increase awareness of justice system stakeholders on the application of collaborative strategies for innovative rehabilitation and transformative justice through trainings, convenings and informational resources
- Rehabilitate individuals involved in hate/extremist crimes in Los Angeles to have greater empathy toward others, engagement with resources and tools to support responsible action, and resilience against hate through the One-To-One program

Theory of Change: If we provide individualized, innovative, research-based hate remediation educational services and resources for hate-motivated/extremist perpetrators then local capacity will be increased to reduce recidivism and prevent extremist and targeted violence.

Assumptions

- Interest in program participation will vary and will often be connected to legal incentives provided.
- The program will be as robust as our justice partners' understanding of the real opportunity and benefits, which impacts referrals.
- Given that the psycho-social profile of each client is different, programs are highly individualized and customized.

External Factors

- Referrals will be made through various justice system partners as part of deferral programs, alternative sentencing, community service, or re-entry counseling and education programs.
- Recidivism reduction rates will be monitored and collected by justice partners (such as DA Office "recidivism check") and shared with MOT as appropriate.

3. Organization and Key Personnel

The SWC is a global human rights organization founded in 1977 that confronts hate and terrorism, promotes human rights and dignity, defends the safety of Jews worldwide, and teaches the lessons of the Holocaust for future generations. With a constituency of over 400,000 households in the United States, it is accredited as an NGO at international organizations including the United Nations, UNESCO, OSCE, Organization of American States (OAS), the Latin American Parliament (PARLATINO) and the Council of Europe. The SWC's Digital Terrorism and Hate Project produces an annual interactive report exposing tens of thousands of these sites. It is distributed to government agencies, activists, educators, and the media. The SWC is a 'trusted flagger' to tech companies and meets regularly with officials to discuss interventions.

The SWC's educational arm, the Museum of Tolerance opened in 1993, and has served almost 7 million people, including 120,000 school children per year. The MOT is dedicated to challenging visitors to understand the Holocaust in both historic and contemporary contexts and confront all forms of prejudice and discrimination in our world today. Through interactive exhibits, special events, and customized programs for youths and adults, the Museum is a dynamic hub engaging visitors' hearts and minds, while challenging them to assume personal responsibility for positive change. The MOT's award winning, professional development department has served over 200,000 professionals including over 100,000 in law enforcement in CA POST certified courses. In 2014 its program was awarded the CA POST Excellence in Training Award.

The MOT's Director of Operations and Experience, Mark Katrikh, will maintain managerial oversight along with former Probation Officer, now Director of MOT's Law Enforcement Programs, Rachel Salamanca. The MOT's Director of Program Development, Dr. Linda Blanshay, will oversee the curriculum enhancement in line with latest research and partner engagement. The project will hire a former law enforcement professional to serve as the project liaison with external justice partners. Tim Zaal and other consultants will be engaged with cases, as appropriate.

4. Sustainability

This program has operated as a subsidized fee for service, when possible. Some judges include the fee as part of an individual's community restitution. The MOT also provides One-To-One programs for juveniles covered by youth development grants. To scale the program, we are open to establishing MOU's with government agencies such as LA County's Office of Human Services which provides community re-integration programs. As a replicable model, the program can be scaled in partner organizations.

Such changes include but are not limited to changes in the charging of a particular type of costs from indirect to direct. Failure to obtain such approval may result in subsequent cost dis-allowances.
- D. FIXED RATE(S): The fixed rate(s) contained in this agreement is based upon an estimate of the costs which will be incurred during the period for which the rate applies. When the actual costs for such period have been determined, an adjustment will be made in a subsequent negotiation to compensate for the difference between that cost used to establish the fixed rate and that which would have been used were the actual costs known at the time.

- F. SPECIAL REMARKS: Federal programs currently reimbursing indirect costs to this Department/Agency by means other than the rate(s) cited in this agreement should be credited for such costs and the applicable rate cited herein applies to the appropriate base to identify the proper amount of indirect costs allocated to the program.
